LANGUAGE & CULTURAL ASPECTS

- Thai is the official language.
- English is widely spoken in tourist areas, hotels, and major cities but less so in rural regions.
- Learning basic Thai greetings like “Sawasdee” (hello) and “Khob khun” (thank you) is appreciated.
- Polite particles like “khrap” (male speakers) and “kha” (female speakers) are often added to show respect.
- Respect for hierarchy and elders is very important in Thai society.
- The “wai” greeting (palms pressed together) is common and a sign of respect.
- Smiling is valued as a way to maintain harmony and show politeness.
- Avoid public displays of anger or confrontation—it’s considered losing face.
- Temples are sacred places: dress modestly, remove shoes, and behave respectfully.
- The head is the most sacred part of the body, so don’t touch anyone’s head.
- Feet are considered the lowest and dirtiest part—avoid pointing them at people or religious objects

I wanted to take a moment to express my gratitude for the wonderful experience during the Azerbaijan trip. From start to finish, everything was well-organized and exceeded my expectations.

The itinerary was thoughtfully planned, offering the perfect balance of activities and free time. Mr. Ajith was exceptionally knowledgeable, friendly, and always willing to go the extra mile to ensure everyone felt comfortable and engaged. The accommodations and transportation were also top-notch, making the journey smooth and enjoyable.

I also appreciated your prompt communication during the booking process and how seamlessly everything was handled. It truly made our trip stress-free and memorable.

Thank you for providing such a fantastic experience. I will highly recommend your services to my friends and family and look forward to planning my next trip with you.
